Wouldn't you love to live a more joy-filled life? Why aren't you happy at least most of the time? Isn't life meant to be a celebration? You might assume that you can't be happy all of the time, that no one can be that happy. After all, just look at what's happening in the world. If it's not another shooting rampage, it's a string of natural disasters. How can you possibly be joyous, or even just somewhat happy, when so much suffering is constantly around you? Even when you're in good health, someone you love is ill or dying. Even when you're celebrating attaining a long-dreamt-of goal, others may be suffering some egregious loss. At times, it may seem to be wrong to be happy when others are not.

Yet, you are the light of the world! If you go dark, the world dims. When you are joyous, the world has a chance to get brighter as well. So, come join us in beautiful Calabasas in the Greater LA area for a profound and transformative weekend of Celebrating Your Psychic Life. Because no matter how great your physical life is, it's your psychic life that determines your true happiness. And, it's how you create your psychic space and energy that sets the stage for the kind of day, year, and life you'll experience.

On Saturday, I'll teach you how you can start living a more joy-filled life and the essential psychic tools to help you do that. One of the secrets to happiness is that you need to not only use your intuition regularly, but to live by it. Of course, there's a lot to living your life intuitively. But, the great news is that it starts with laughing. And, your laughter is so important to your loving. Come to this seminar to have fun as you learn and heal yourself.

Then, on Sunday, you'll learn the powerful practice of re-setting your energy to light-up your life and open up to new creative horizons! I'll teach you to develop your innate soul ability of clairvoyance or clear-seeing so that you can start seeing more of the energy of life and what makes the world what it is. You'll learn to enjoy looking at where you are going and express more of your creativity as the immortal soul that you are.

We welcome you to come celebrate your psychic life with us!
