The word "imagine" derives from the Latin, imaginari, which means, "picture to oneself". Imagine that! The ability to form a mental image, to picture something to ourselves, is an ability intrinsic to the soul. It isn't the body's ability. Neither is it of the intellect. It's a psychic ability. It is essential to your creativity and how you choose to live your life. Without your imagination, you couldn't suffer, but you also would never experience joy. Life without imagination....now, that would be hard to imagine!

Using your imagination, you can create a picture in your mind, where there wasn't one before. You can also use your imagination to recognize an image that was already there in your mind. In a sense, that's what we do when we recall a scene from our memory, for example. It's also what we do, when we develop our clairvoyance, the ability to see and discern illusion from truth. Learn to use your imagination both ways - clairvoyance to see the truth more clearly and imagination to visualize where you're going - and you transform your life into a more joyous experience.

We come alive and our life becomes joyous, when we experience our purpose in living. Then, purpose is no longer an intellectual idea, but becomes a direct knowing for us. We begin to intuitively know in our own being that there is a divinely ordained destiny to our life. We become unstoppable, even when we don't know exactly where we need to be or what we need to do next. We're inspired. And we trust. But, don't take my word for it. Instead, learn to live your life by intuition and experience the true purpose and destiny of your life for yourself. If you do, I know you'll find lasting fulfillment and joyous peace.
