Having The Courage to Live Your Truth

Sunday, September 22 10 AM - 5 PM

Without a doubt, we are living in crazy, challenging times. It is a time of profound transformation brought about by a need for each of us to undergo a true metamorphosis. Each caterpillar must emerge from within its chrysalis as the beautiful butterfly it is destined to be. We must transform our outer form to express our inner being. More than ever, we need to reach deep within our own soul for the courage needed to see our way through this time of massive change, growth, and healing on a global scale - and even beyond. This was never meant to be a time for the faint of heart. So, if you are incarnated here on earth at this time, you are far from being helpless. You are the light of the world. All you need to thrive and fulfill your purpose is within you already. What you need now is to have the courage to find it, learn to use it, and live it fully. To help you do that, we offer you two powerful, illuminating all-day seminars.

In Saturday's Seminar, you'll Learn to Use Your Intuition & Clairvoyance - Joyfully! After all, what would be the advantage of learning to use your intuition or clairvoyance, if either ability didn't help you experience more joy in your life? Your life is meant to be a joyous celebration. So, "Don't Worry, Be Happy" as Bobby McFerrin's 1988 worldwide hit song continues to encourage us today. Of course, without your innate intuition and clairvoyance, you can't truly experience joy, for your joyousness isn't accessed through your intellect or your bodily senses. You can experience joy only through the direct intuitive knowing of that limitlessness we call spirit.

What do you need to directly see that joyous light of truth and know that limitless freedom of being? Since all of that is within you, you have to fully become who you are to access that. Most importantly, the real you, as spirit, is unconditionally loving. It's that unconditionally loving part of who you are that you need courage to reach. Why do you need courage to reach such a kind and gentle part of you? It's the part of you that you protect the most from past invalidation, rejection, and hurt. So, by Having The Courage to Be Your Compassionate Self, you'll be able to access your intuition to know your purpose, your clairvoyance to see your way clearly along your path, and live more joyfully everyday.

Then, on Sunday, you'll Learn to Live By Intuition & Clairvoyance. Once you start to use your intuition and clairvoyance joyfully, you'll have to navigate through the challenges and choices that your life presents to you by what you know and see within you. Yet, all too often, what you know to be true for yourself may not be the same for, or acceptable to, others - especially, if you are on your spiritual path. To be able to live by your inner knowing and your ability to see what is true for you each day, you need courage as well.

Having The Courage to Live Your Truth doesn't mean you have to push down any fear that you might experience and plow through life, like a Mack truck. In fact, if you were to do that, you wouldn't be living your truth. Having courage means you are willing to be loving, even if you experience fear. And, when you have courage to live your truth, you are able to follow through on what you know to be your next step, even if you don't know exactly where it will take you or how it will end up.

In these two all-day seminars, you'll gain profound insights into the nature and purpose of courage and compassion as well as your intuition and clairvoyance. You'll learn how to have the courage you need to be your loving self and live your truth more fully. You will also learn many simple, but powerful psychic tools and spiritual practices that you can apply in your daily life to help you to navigate more joyfully through the often turbulent and challenging conditions in this world.

Remember, it has been said that the world is darkest before dawn. Often, periods of great uncertainty and darkness are natural phases not only in our profound personal healing process, but also in our global evolution. Today, humanity is awakening to an unprecedented level as a collective consciousness. You are here on earth now to help spearhead this awakening. Have the courage to trust your compassionate self and live your inner truth in this world by learning to access and live by your intuition and through seeing your way clairvoyantly.

We welcome you to join us for these two extraordinary all-day “learn-by-doing” seminars. See you in Burlington!
