Dear Friends and Awakening Souls,

If you're reading this, you most likely have at least a hunch that you might be psychic. But, You Might Be More Psychic Than You Think! In fact, however psychic you think you are, you are more psychic than that. Much more. How can I make a blanket statement like that? For one thing, being psychic is limitless, so however psychic you might think you are, that's based on your self-imposed limits you've already placed on yourself. And, whatever limits you place on yourself, you will always draw within those lines, so what you experience of yourself will seem to confirm what you believe in or assume.

It's definitely time now, however, to stretch yourself at least a bit more. No matter what you do in life, if you develop your innate psychic awareness and various abilities, not only will you be able to do it more, but even better. Besides, you'd be more of who you are! That's what makes any of us experience happiness and joy - knowing and being who we truly are. So, once you start experiencing more of your psychic awareness and abilities, you'd find it hard to believe how you could have lived so long without living much more of your psychic life.

What is so important about living your psychic life? Well, for starters, you already know that if life were just about your body and physical life, you'd be bored to tears, as well as be unhappy because you won't get to be yourself and express and share all the inner wealth of your creativity, understanding, and love that you have. Psychic means "of the soul", so living your psychic life means living in this world as the immortal soul that you are.

As you progress on your spiritual path, more and more of that progress becomes that of you living your psychic life in this often turbulent world. Even the Buddha, the Awakened One Himself, said - after he attained his enlightenment, no less - that it is hard to be born as a human being, even more so to live as one. He goes on to say that it is harder still to understand the spiritual path and hardest of all to awaken fully.

That doesn't sound like a pep talk or a recruitment incentive to the spiritual path, does it? Why bother if it's that challenging to seek your complete awakening? This is where starting to discover how psychic you already are becomes quite important. Being psychic, remember, means living as the soul that you are. The more you are living your psychic life, the more you realize how far along on this difficult path you really are. You can't even begin to judge where a soul is on its path by worldly accomplishments or the seeming lack thereof.

Have you ever had the blessing of being with someone who didn't have much of a worldly resume - no Oscars, Super-Bowl rings, Nobel Prizes, or millions of dollars in their bank account - but, you always seem to leave happier after a little visit with that person. You may have even known someone that you spent a short time with and just being with that person changed your life for the better. That means something, doesn't it? Such souls are much further along that difficult path. Who they are shine through much more and their light benefits everyone else around them. Such people are much more psychic - often even more than they might think. They may not even talk about seeing your aura or spirit guides, but, they are aware of who you are more than the souls who are still struggling with themselves. You'll also find that such souls are much more interested and willing to share what they have with others than those who are always demanding, "What's in it for me?"

So, you might notice that "being psychic" or "developing your psychic abilities" means something quite different to us than what you might hear about often in the world. We look at it as an integral part of your awakening process and learning to live more fully here in this world as the spirit that you are.

To help guide many of you who are starting to or having been experiencing the "call" to look deeper within yourself, to discover more of who you might truly be, and/or to develop your intuitive and psychic nature and abilities, we have an on-going series of teleclasses that we've been calling, You Might Be More Psychic Than You Think! *Developing Your Soul Abilities for Your Spiritual Growth & Fulfillment. Within this on-going series, we offer different sets of seven 2-hour teleclasses with a special theme. Our latest set to kick-start our New Year is: Living Your Psychic Life Everyday: *Bringing Your Heaven Onto Earth. We welcome you to join us for one, any, or all of the upcoming seven teleclasses. We know you'll enjoy them and benefit from them. You'll learn many simple, but powerful psychic tools that you'll be able to utilize everyday - at home, at work, at school, at social events, while care-giving, and even while you play! We'll start-off the new year by helping you to Re-Set Your Energy, Kick-Start Your Psychic Life! Then, in each teleclass (given once every two-to-four weeks on a Saturday), we'll address and explore a specific aspect of your daily lives requiring your psychic awareness and input. We'll offer you guidance, information, and psychic tools and practices to help you to work with your spirit, inner guidance, especially when you feel confused or lost, to be able to administer a kind of "psychic first aid", when you are suddenly confronted with a problem, to be able to find out what your next step is and take it, to know what to do if you ever find yourself "stuck" or "overwhelmed", and finish the 7-teleclass set with a good look at how you can learn to bring more of your soul life, more of "heaven", into your daily living.

You'll certainly learn a lot, but you'll also have a lot of fun! Join us by calling our office during normal business hours Monday through Fridays Pacific Time at: 530-926-2650 or go to www.michaeltamura.com and get all the details and sign up online in our events section. We hope to "see" you in class!

With gratitude, love, and laughter,

Michael
