Living Joyously
Celebrating Your Life Experience

❁ Every Moment ❁

Dear SHAPE Community & Graduates of Clairvoyant Programs, AHA!
& Our Psychic Tools & Life Mastery Practices Course,

The Blessings of Joy to each and every one of you! Joy to the World!

I am certain that you are able to have that. Yet, many in the world today may consider even the idea of having and expressing joy as preposterous. How can anyone in their right mind be joyful, much less spread joy in a world at war and in multiple crises on so many different levels and on so many different fronts? Joyfulness may be viewed as downright rude or at least inconsiderate. It could be worse than laughing at someone's funeral.

We have to remember, though, that almost always, the dead are the ones laughing at their own funerals. What do they know that everyone else seems to be missing out on?

Someone not experiencing the joyousness of life may think that anyone expressing their joyousness in a generally insane and violent world like we are living in now is insane themselves or at a minimum in serious denial of what's happening all around them. Yet, is that true? Has the Grinch finally succeeded in stealing joy out of humanity's heart?

Well, you know the answer to that question. Of course, it's not true. Far from it. In truth, there is a lot more joy in humanity's collective heart now than there has been for a few millennia. Or at least more people are accessing it. The only thing is, we don't hear about it anywhere as much as we hear all the bad news.

Remember, we're all going through a massive global transformation, most of which is us, humanity, waking up—or trying to, anyway.

As you've known for quite a while now, fake news has become more the standard in the news business. The purpose of the news business, like the real purpose of every business, is to serve everyone. It's the job of the news business to serve by truthful communication and by helping to keep everyone well-informed. Well, I'm sure there are still a few that strive to do that to the best of their ability and still pay their bills. But quite a long time ago, some leaders in the news business figured out that bad news sells more papers than good news. The formula developed over time to a little bit of good news, like an appetizer portion, followed by a whopping junk food dose of horror, pain and suffering, gloom and doom. Sometimes, if we're lucky, we get a little saccharin dessert to keep us anesthetized so we'll come back for more. Yep, Fake News, or glorified gossip, is the equivalent of Junk Food for the Mind. Consume with extreme caution! Just as junk food separates the consumer from their wallet and their good health, fake news separates them from seeking the truth within themselves.

Fake news is also our modern-day equivalent of book-burning, except it's a lot easier, faster, and less costly. Rather than getting rid of any information that might help the public enlighten themselves in some way by burning relevant books, it's much more strategic to stuff them with junk food that lulls them into complacency, apathy, and inertia. So, relatively unknown to most of the world, both WWII and Armageddon have been being played out already. This time, those who seek to divide and conquer are waging their biggest wars in the "Mind-Fields" rather than on minefields and other battlegrounds where it would be so much more obvious. The weapons of mass distraction include pharmaceuticals, medical soldiers, and mind-weaponizing algorithm-coders. This is one of the reasons that your psychic development is essential at this time. While some people are trying to get to "Mind Over Matter", you're pioneering "Spirit In Mind"! Yes, keep Spirit in your mind and God in your clairvoyant sight at all times—no matter what the times may bring.

So, Joy To The World! We're keeping Spirit in mind all the time. How else would we be able to experience joy? As always, we're in the business of raising our havingness of joy first. Have Joy, Will Travel. Have Joy ... Will A Lot of Things. The key, of course, is having joy. And your experience of joy is directly proportional to your havingness of Life as—and in—Spirit. If you can't have your Spirit or Eternal Life, you won't have much of an experience of joy, will you?

If you wish to share joy with others and bless the world with joy, you'd first have to live your life joyously. Can you imagine a dour, unhappy person telling you to cheer up and be joyful? Hahaha... On the other hand, if you are in a state of joyousness, of having eternal and unconditional life, of living in Spirit, you wouldn't have to do anything particular to bless the world and all who are around you with your joyousness.

That's what we'll explore in our upcoming March SHAPE Remote Weekend Intensive:

Living Joyously

Celebrating Your Life Experience

❖ Every Moment ❖

We'll address your havingness for life experience and your havingness for joy. You may find that you are able to have certain kinds of life experiences a lot more than other kinds. Hahaha... That's dependent on various conditions. So, you have to recognize the conditions in the world and in your life that you allow to limit your havingness of life and joy and practice enjoying and living life regardless. How much can you have celebrating what you experience in your life moment by moment regardless of your experience?

Living joyously can be a tall order for most people. It seems that most people can have only small doses of joy once in a long while. A blast of joy in your face and then, OK, that's enough! What would it be like to be joyous throughout the day regardless of what you're doing, where you are, how you are, or what you are aware of? What happens to you if you continue to stay joyous? Ah, you might discover that sooner or later, something starts to be uncomfortable within you or even downright painful. That's you hitting up against some threshold of havingness for that incredibly creative power expressing itself. Of course, that power is within you and you have to make sufficient time and space for yourself to express and share that life and creative power in the world. We'll work on that throughout the intensive as well. It will have to become a fun on-going practice for you to apply every day.

By now, you're all quite aware that any time you begin to commit to raising your havingness for something or some energy, the naysayers that previously ruled over you will get displaced and displeased. They'll make some noise in your space to get you to back down your havingness. Just remember that when they get all riled up, it's actually too late for them. You've already raised up your havingness beyond their reach. Just don't get conned into believing that they still have the upper hand. After a little while, you'll have total certainty that they just make noise and nothing else. They can't hurt you in any way.

Over the course of the weekend, you'll free yourself even more from past and future failure, regret, disappointment and other seeming joy-robbing bandits. Perhaps we'll replace such picture perfect (and perfect picture) bandits with wise-cracking pundits instead. Yep, it's definitely time for celebrating your life experience every moment and sharing your joy in the world!

We're so looking forward to seeing and being with each of you via Zoom Saturday, March 26 through at least Sunday, March 27. For those of you going for the full ride this time, we'll continue getting together for more adventures and miracles on Monday and Tuesday following the weekend as well!

So, what's in YOUR growth period now?

May your days overflow with the joyous celebration of life as the Love of God fills your soul.

With gratitude, love, and laughter,

Michael
